

STATE of WISCONSIN

OFFICE of the GOVERNOR

Proclamation

WHEREAS; health literacy refers to the capacity to find, comprehend, and utilize information and services about one's own health to make the best possible health-related decisions; and

WHEREAS; all people can be at risk of misunderstanding health information, particularly if the topic is distressing or complex; and

WHEREAS; healthcare workers and educators recognize that improving overall health and wellness is anchored in the ability to understand and use health information; and

WHEREAS; lack of or inadequate health literacy poses significant challenges to public health, and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention report that improving health literacy could prevent nearly one million hospital visits and save the United States over $25 billion a year; and

WHEREAS; health literacy is a strong predictor of patient health outcomes, and improving health literacy among all Wisconsinites can be a powerful means of preventing or mitigating many chronic and acute conditions; and

WHEREAS; an increasing reliance on digital platforms to connect people to health information and services often means that those without reliable access to high-speed internet are disadvantaged when it comes to health literacy access, and more must be done to expand informational accessibility to those who seek it; and

WHEREAS; Wisconsinites, healthcare professionals, community-based organizations, literacy programs, and local and state governments have a shared responsibility to improve health literacy and to support and disseminate accurate, science-based information, resources, services, and programming; and

WHEREAS; this month, the state of Wisconsin joins healthcare providers, educators, researchers, and dedicated advocates and organizations in promoting health literacy in the state and beyond;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Tony Evers, Governor of the State of Wisconsin, do hereby proclaim October 2023 as
